Hinged doors

Hinged doors

Like all doors in DoorSystem's door assortment, the design of our hinged doors is simple and functional.

The standard manufacture of door leaf and door frame comes with a chamfer. We have chosen this solution from the point of being able to meet the highest hygienic requirements.

The hinged doors are manufactured in a wide range of different colours and styles. They are adjusted to conditions and framework available for solving each specific task.

Our door leaves are shaped for being fitted into a door or a frame. The standard material used for DoorSystem's frames is stainless steel. We customize the frame and the opposite frame to your specifications and needs to give optimum flexibility in the door area.

Silicone rubber is used for sealing as it is ideal for all industries and especially suitable for the food industry, as its properties include being odourless, tasteless and non-toxic.
